

Family Enrichment Fundamentals

The IFFD (International Federation Family Development) programs are successfully implemented in more than 65 countries. They are of a practical nature, and innovative in many aspects in the field of family and personal support. The contents of the fixed programs are frequently updated and new programs are developed to face current issues surrounding marriage and family.

Family Enrichment Fundamentals is a course intended for those who have already attended at least one of the FEN programs. Family Enrichment Fundamentals offers profound insight in the IFFD system, its underlying philosophy and consistent method. Among the topics of this course are:

- explanation of the pedagogical, psychological and social context on which the system is based, making the programs easier to understand and more effective;
- the diversity in personal and group initiatives that have been created as a result of the programs around the world
- the value of the established friendship and a network of families that strongly support the family.
- how to become a good ambassador of FEN, team leader of small groups or moderator of the cases in general sessions.
